What Herdman Gave Up. It is learned tonight that as a consideration for killing the governor's bill to reduce the compensation as clerk of the court Clerk Herdman gave to the senate and house finance, ways and means committees a signed statement in which he agreed to waive the annual salary of $1,500 authorized by the constitution. This waiver is now on file in the secretary of state's office, and is signed not only by Herdman, but by Senator Arends and Representative Lane, chairmen of the committees, and by Representatives Cain and Evans as witnesses. On the strength of the agreement the finance committee cut the appropriation for the office out of the

Indeed, the spectacle is impressively analogous to that of the money question. The greenback currency, like Christian Science is based on faith. Speaker Sears Compliments the Legislature on Being Good Natured and Hard Working

LINCOLN, April 1 .- (Special Telegram.) -Lieutenant Governor Savage today completed his duties as presiding officer of the senate and Thursday he will return to his home in Sargent, Custer county. Tomorrow he will go to South Omaha to attend a banquet to be given in his honor by the commercial club of that city. As to the work of the assembly, Speaker

"The Twenty-seventh legislature labored under great difficulties and encountered many serious obstacles, but nevertheless it performed its work well and deserves credit for so doing. The members of the majority and minority sides held nightly caucuses but they did not neglect the work of the of opinion. The old schools have their session. All the members were ready at all times to attend to committee and other work, and I think I am safe in saying that more was accomplished than in any other > standing the session was a short one. "The early adjournment, forced by a few republicans desiring to defeat the election of a certain candidate for United States senator, and the fusionists joining with them, hoping to prevent the election of any candidate, made it necessary to rush a sary consideration. Less time was spent on the three appropriation bills, calling for an expenditure of over $2,000,000 of state funds, than on the game bill alone, which came up in the house during the assembly for several years past, notwith-

early days of the session. "On the whole, I think our deliberations have been harmonious and free from the personalities sometimes indulged in. While some of the members may have differed from each other on a few things, they nevertheless treated each other courteously both those of the majority and minority, re gordless of party. In fact, very little of the partisan spirit was shown at any time in

Secretary McKesson's Estimate.

J. C. F. McKesson, secretary of the senate and former senator from Lancaster county for several terms, compared the Twenty-seventh assembly with former legislatures, and said: "While the legislature may have fallen short in a few re spects, it accomplished a great deal. More ban the usual number of bills were passed. but many of these were curative to errors in the statutes and can hardly be called new laws. The fire at the penitentiary, transportation of the First regiment from San Francisco to Nebraska and the large deficiencies swelled the appropriations. but notwithstanding this they are no higher than those made by several legislatures in recent years. The senate and house were reprsentative bodies of men and consideraply above the usual standard."

The expenses of the legislature, including salaries of officers and employes, were about $12,000 less than two years ago. when the entire appropriation of $130,000 was consumed. This year $133,000 was appropriated, but $15,000 of the amount was for recarpeting and repapering the legislative halls and committee rooms and lot of worthless stationery and supplies ordered by the popocratic secretary of state before the session began.

Total of Appropriations. The total of all appropriations made i approximately $3,000,000, which includes the emergency appropriations for rebuilding the state penitentiary, for reimbursing persons who advanced money for the transportation of the First regiment and for taking up the deficiency claims arising from the extravagant management of state institutions by the popocratic administration. The State Historical society was given an increase from $5,000 to $10,000, an allowance of $4,000 was made for the traveling libraries and the new supreme court ommission necessitated an appropriation of $45,000. In addition to these the legislature made appropriations for permanent state fair grounds near the city of Lincoln, for a fire-proof wing for the Hospital for Chronic Insane at Hastings, for farm land at the Beatrice and Norfolk institutions, for the expenses of a Torrens land transfer commission, the commission to revise the compiled statutes, the Missouri river boundary commissions, for the Pan-American exposition, for wolf bounties and for the relief of homesteaders, and the German Evangelical church in this city. These appropriations are divided as fol-

GETTING RICH QUICK AT MANILA

Thousands of Pounds of Supplies Disappear White Being Landed and Are Reported as Lost in the Water.

The report of the arrest of an army officlerks, together with several prominent business men of Manils, did not fall with the effect of a clap of thunder from a clear sky at the headquarters of the Department of the Missouri, for stories have been percolating through official and clerical strata of army life for some time in reference to irregularities at the commissary depot at Manila, and in some cases charges have been made in a general way, involving no particular officer, to the effect that men in the depot at Manila were feathering their own nests at the expense of the govern-

The next trip it makes to shore its load is delivered not to the officer in charge of the commissary supplies, but at another pier and the officer or other person on the boat makes a report of the upsetting of the casco with the stores on board. Take the case of Major A, C. Devol. recently relieved as quartermaster of one of the departments. When orders came for his transfer he found that he was short of supplies and property valued at about $300,000. Mules and wagons which had been consigned to him were unaccounted for, and he instituted inquiry as to their whereabouts. He found that many of these had been sent with supplies to headquarters of one of the army corps and went out there to investigate. The general in deputy United States marshals from the ommand stated that he had a pumber of mules more than he was charged with, and turned about forty animals and many wagons back to the quartermaster. It is a hard matter to get a good cook over there, especially one who understands how to handle American flour. For some time our bread was abominable and we cast about for means to improve it. We finally found a baker named Clark, who was a good workman, and with him we made arrangements whereby he was to give us 100 loaves of bread for each 100 pounds of flour we delivered to him, he taking for his remuneration the flour left in the sack after the 100 loaves were made. He stated that using this food, Grape-Nuts, for a portion he could make 140 loaves from 100 pounds of flour, so he made about $5 for his work on the flour, bread selling at that time for 15 cents a loaf on the open market, and we got our bread for less than 2 cents a loaf. It is beginning to be suspected that the fates that rule the elements are not in active sympathy with the Auditorium movement, for the fourth week of the Auditorium exposition opened last night only a half hour behind the inevitable rain. Thus far the exposition has been accorded one pleasant evening, which brought out 1,800 people. It holds the record. The Shriners, who are inured to the desert drouth, are evidently not partial to dampness, for only about 160 wearers of the fez, accompanied er, of commissary sergeants and civilian usually by their ladies, were in attendance. Authorities Have Engagements for Him for that Length of Time.

Papers for the transfer of Prentice Tiller and G. H. Grant, abas Martin, were received here yesterday and this morning the much wanted mail box robber will be taken to Cincinnati in charge of Omaha office.

Yesterday a representative of the Pinkerton detective agency and Postoffice Inspector Sinclair held a long conference accumulated at headquarters of the corps in regard to the disposition of Tiller. The Pinkerton operative said that Tiller was not wanted by them at present on any pressed into service by the general and specific charge, but that the agency desired to keep him out of mischief, that the head of the concern was convinced that the only way to do this would be to keep him small amount and the quartermaster was in jail and that in protection to the banks relieved of responsibility on account of the of the country they desired to adopt the loss, as he showed that it was made in spite plan which would keep him behind the bars longest time.
